In-house editor vs outsourced studio.

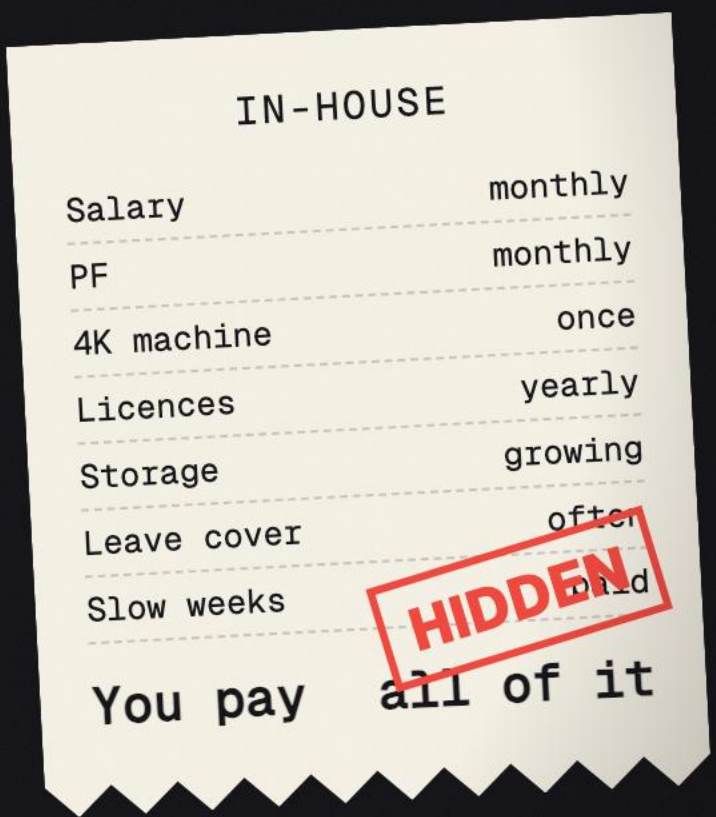

The honest maths. No prices, just what you actually pay for.

in-house: the visible cost.

Salary. That's the number everyone compares.

in-house: the hidden cost.

outsourced: pay for output.

Per batch or per month.
Quiet week, you pay less.
Diwali rush, you get more hands.

in-house wins when...

- ✓ Steady daily volume
- ✓ Someone needed on set
- ✓ Work can't leave the building outsourcing wins when...

- ✓ Volume comes in waves
- ✓ You need many formats
- ✓ Deadlines land at 11pm

most agencies do both.

One in-house editor for the daily work. An outsourced team for the peaks.

save this for your next hire.

Or send it to whoever signs off on budgets.
